UK Outlook for Wednesday 6 Oct 2021 to Friday 15 Oct 2021:
Through Wednesday showers will clear giving a rather settled day before a period of unsettled weather returns to the UK for the first part of this period. Showers or longer spells of rain will affect many areas, these heavy at times, although some drier and brighter intervals are also likely. Strong winds are also possible in places, particularly along coasts. Temperatures are likely to be below average. The second half of this period set to bring drier and more settled weather across the south of the UK, with some showers possible. Across the north, conditions to remain more unsettled, with further showers or some longer spells of rain and potential for strong winds at times. Temperatures will probably return to near average or above for most areas.
